

city residential monitor

The City of Sydney Residential Monitor is an important initiative of Council's 'Living City' Policy. An objective of the 'Living City' Policy, is to establish a critical mass of permanent residents in the city. A city with a sizeable residential population makes good economic and social sense, as city residents help support a range of services and contribute to city identity and cultural life.

The Residential Monitor provides accurate information on the supply of housing in the Sydney Local Government precincts of the City Centre and Pyrmont/Ultimo. Information on each residential project is arranged based on the status as at the end of each quarter (ie. 'Under Consideration', 'Approved', 'Commenced' and 'Completed').

Summary of Residential Activity - September 2004

As at the end of September 2004, there were 2,678 units under construction in the Central Sydney and Pyrmont / Ultimo areas. These comprise:

- 2,194 units in the City Centre
- 484 units in Ultimo/Pyrmont

During the September 2004 Quarter:

- Five projects comprising 960 units completed construction
- No projects commenced construction

- One project comprising 17 units was approved

As at the end of September 2004, eight projects totalling 968 residential units were lodged and under consideration. These comprise:

- Seven projects (915 units) in the City Centre

Residential Unit Mix

A recent amendment to the Central Sydney Development Control Plan 1996 (Amendment No. 5 - Internal Residential Amenity) encourages a mix of units within all residential developments of more than 20 units. The unit mix sought is:

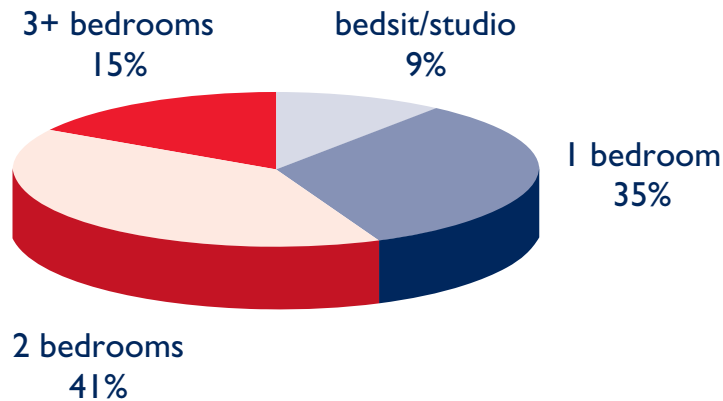

Studio apartments	Maximum of 15%
1 bed apartments	Maximum of 30%
2 bed apartments	Minimum of 40%
3+ bed apartments	Minimum of 15%

The following graphs show the unit mix of projects approved in the 2003/04 financial year; completed in 2003/04, and under construction as at June 2004 for the Central Sydney and Pyrmont / Ultimo precincts.
